The street improvements for the year 1928 that has been mapped out by the council was discussed for a short time at the meeting of the council last evening.

Plans and specifications for the different projects are being worked on, and City Engineer Hoffman stated last evening, in answer to questions of Councilman W. W. Scott, that he would be prepared to submit the detailed plans of the proposed work in a short time.

It is the intention of the council during the present year to complete the opening, widening and improvement of Standard avenue, which has long been a bottle neck to traffic going through the city.

It will also include the improvement of Pullman avenue, through to Panhandle boulevard in the Annex district, which will provide another traffic outlet from the city.

The program also includes the improvement of Rheem avenue from Twenty-third street to San Pablo avenue, and also the improvement of Prather avenue and K-r Boulevard.

The ordinance providing for the opening and extending of Pennsylvania avenue was given second reading and adoption last evening and these proceedings will immediately go forward.

Charged with a statutory offense against a 16-year-old girl, Dr. C. E. Camp, pioneer resident of San Pablo, was yesterday taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Joseph and Deputy District Attorney James Hoey.

The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. M. Jensen, who charges the aged doctor with a series of offenses which are said to have run over a period of seven years, since the girl was nine years of age.

Dr. Camp was taken to Martinez yesterday and lodged in the county jail. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

While only the one complaint has been sworn against him, others are expected to be filed as three other girls are said to have been mistreated by him.

The girls were taken to the county detention home in Martinez where they are being held and questioned by County Probation Officer Dr. T. A. Boyer.

Dr. Camp has been a resident of San Pablo off and on for the past 45 years and was held in high esteem by the residents. He will be given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Twelve thousand Berliners jammed into auto exhibition halls today for the first showing of the new Ford models. The Ford advertising campaign exceeded anything in the history of German salesmanship.

These tanks will accommodate the immediate needs of the company and additional storage tanks will be constructed later.

The contract calls for the construction of the tanks within 60 days and prior to this, the contracts for painting will have been awarded. As bids have already been called for on the work.

The tanks will be covered with Gallagher Ponton roofs, a floating type of roof, which insures absolute fire protection to the storage tanks.

Decision to have an earlier opening date for spring sales was due to a fact that the large firms of the East Bay have decided to hold their sales at an earlier date.

Safety Device Of Bay Point Inventor Viewed By Council

A new electrical device that will likely revolutionize the control of traffic at railroad crossings, was exhibited to the members of the council last evening, after the meeting by W. F. McFarland, of Bay Point, the inventor.

It provides for signals 27 seconds before the passing of a train; the first signal being given ten seconds before by signal lights and a bell, and ten seconds later the automatic gates will extend horizontally across the tracks. If an automobile strikes the steel gates it will push the machine backward and prevent it from going on to the tracks.

Another device in connection with the new safety signal is that in the center of the highway is a strip of concrete that marks with the level of the road, and as the tracks are nearer it increases in height until it is 13 inches high. In case a driver attempts to get on the wrong side of the road, and beat the train across the tracks, the machine gets over the concrete strip and in a moment the strip strikes the axle, and the machine is raised so that it loses its traction and comes to a stop, without any damage being done to the auto.

The device is revolutionary in its make up, and has but three

BIDS OPENED FOR DREDGING INNER HARBOR

The three bids that were opened for the dredging of the inner harbor by the council last evening were referred to City Attorney T. M. Carlson as to their legality. It is likely that an award will be made next Monday night.

The lowest bid is slightly higher than the estimate of the city Engineer, E. A. Hoffman. He estimated there would be 425,000 cubic yards of dirt to be dredged and it could be done for 18 cents per cubic yard.

The lowest bid was received from the United Dredging company, whose bid was 18.88 cents per cubic yard. The other bids received were from the San Francisco Bridge Company, with an offer of 22 cents, and the Long View Dredging company with a bid of 19.75 cents.

Kress Building To Be Started On Macdonald At Early Date

With the receipt of a deposit yesterday morning from the New York headquarters of the S. H. Kress and company, the erection of a Richmond building for the company at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue on property now owned by A. M. Lamar is assured.

Last night, Clare D. Horner, Richmond attorney who is representing Lamar in the deal, petitioned the city council to let Tenth street frontage of the property be rezoned from residential to business property to make the construction of the store building possible. The property is T-shaped with 50-foot frontage on Macdonald avenue and 50 feet on Tenth street with a depth of 112 and one half feet.

The matter was referred to the city planning commission to report at the next meeting of the council.

Horner stated yesterday that he received a check of $2,500 as payment for an option on the property and that the Kress company was prepared to start building as soon as the property can be re-zoned for commercial purposes.

The building will be two stories in height with a full basement and will be built T-shaped. The consideration for the property is said to be in the neighborhood of $50,000. The cost of the building has been estimated at $150,000, making a total investment in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The S. H. Kress and company operates a chain of 5, 10 to 50 cents stores and recently made provisions for extending their chain throughout the west. The nearest store at present is in Oakland.

CITY'S HARBOR NETS $22, 600 UNDER LEASE

Through its council the City of Richmond was last evening presented with $22,636.38.

The amount is the net profits due the city as the result of operation of the water front of the City of Richmond by the Parr Terminal company for the past fourteen months.

Fred D. Parr, the head of the terminal corporation submitted his report to the council last evening, showing the business that had been done at the city wharves from November 1926 to December 31, 1927.

The report was quite a surprise, as during the regime of those in control of the wharf previous to the Parr time, the harbor facilities had gone in the red to the tune of about $39,000.

Of the net amount due the city $14,186.67 has been paid out to harbor improvement and to Robert F. Easley for the building of the levees around the Ford tract and the Gilmore tract. The balance due the city of $8,350.50 was represented by a check from the Parr Terminal Company payable to the City of Richmond.

The gross revenue of the wharves for the year 1927 totaled $74,207.37, and the gross expenses were $35,738.60, leaving a gross profit of $38,468.67, one-half of which is the city's, $19,234.34, and with the net profit of $3,302.24 for the two months in 1926, makes a net profit for the fourteen month period of $32,536.38.

The net profits of the city during the different months were as follows: November-December, 1926 $3,302.24, and in 1927 as follows: January, $1,097.61; February, $1,757.54; March, $1,759.92; April, $879.94; May, $2,260.38; June, $1,504.78; July, $1,126.53; August, $463.22; September, $1,901.67; October, $2,326.34; November, $1,439.38; December, $2,617.51.

OUR LIVING STANDARDS

All business men and American well wishers were encouraged by the report of Secretary Mellon on business conditions at the beginning of the new year. The report, which is borne out by the surveys made by competent authorities will tend to give assurance to the men who are interested in continuing the progress and prosperity of the nation in 1928.

The American people have now progressed to the point where they have a standard of living which has never been equalled at any time in the history of the world. This standard of living is due to American business genius, to the efficiency of American labor and to constructive policies which have made our present prosperity general. Among these policies are restricted immigration and the protective tariff, which have guarded the American worker against an incoming flood of cheap and undesirable foreign labor and cheap and undesirable foreign goods. Between our great and prosperous states there is a free exchange of goods with no barriers and this is possible because we are one people in forty-eight commonwealths each with the same ideals and the same standard of living. But the case is far different when we compare our standards with that in the other nations of the world.

"When American labor is employed at good wages the nation is safe and sound. A heavy influx of foreigners would tend to reduce wages. This would be advantageous to some employers, but it would not benefit the country as a whole.

"Similarly, a breach in the tariff wall would be a highly advantageous point to importers and certain bankers who make a business of lending money abroad on questionable security. These bankers would willingly sacrifice American industry for the sake of collecting the money they have lent abroad. But the interests of all the people require that tariff protection shall remain intact and be extended in other directions whenever American industry and labor are found to be insufficiently protected. Thus all Americans are enabled to become producers and by producing they are enabled to consume liberally what their fellow Americans produce.

"The bulwark of American farmers is the tariff. It guarantees to them a body of consumers who can pay liberal prices for all farm products. As the farmers learn better to market their products they will increase their prosperity.

"On a solid economic system, found by experience to be adapted to the best interests of the country, the United States enters the new year in a prosperous condition. No one but Americans can destroy the prosperity of the United States."

About the most dangerous thing under these traffic rules is to be thinking of something else.—Ohio State Journal.

Gain Health In 1928, But Hold It After Its Capture

"She has it because she keeps it." This was the caption yesterday on this page over a photograph of Miss Beryl Halley, whose fame as a beauty is known everywhere where beauties with perfect figures are discussed. It meant just what the editor meant it to mean when he wrote it. Beryl Halley has her form because she keeps it.

There is a New Year's sermon a little late, perhaps, but just as much needed, that that caption should preach to you.

Every girl has somewhere the beauty that will make her the winner of the husband she desires or will give to her the personality needed for a successful career.

It may be your eyes or your hair, or your poise. Whatever it is, with the proper exercises, such as you have seen in these columns time and again this one charm that nature has given you can be developed until it is so pronounced that no one thinks of anything but that one central mark of pulchritude or personality.

But after you have won it be sure and keep it.

Miss Halley will tell you that she does not retain her figure because she exercises alone. She keeps it because she knows how to live.

What does that mean? It means that she never over-eats, never over-exercises and always maintains a cleanliness and wholesomeness which are the greatest enemies to disease of any kind that man can bulwark his health with in these days of it.

Longer Hair Has Arrived Mannish Contour Going

"Is there any way to help my hair grow faster?"

There's many a miss trying to discover the secret art of helping that boyish bob grow out. For, little by little, the close-cropped head is losing its manish contour and becoming the feminine lure—with the crowning glory unclipped.

"Longer hair, not long hair," said a beauty specialist a few days ago, "is coming back to stay."

By this he meant that the shorn, mannish hair cut is doomed. The hair will never, perhaps, become the same pride and joy, down to the waist, that it used to be. But a girl must have longer hair. The problem of what to do with it in that growing stage is worrying thousands of girls this winter.

However, never before have the fashions made growing out the hair so easy. There are literally dozens of ways of wearing the hair longer, and being fashionable at the same time.

One of the most popular is to part it in the middle, pull it back of the ears and curl the unruly ends slightly. Another trick is to let the sides grow thick and keep the back clipped. Then, when the sides get long fold them over and pin them in place.

Many of the girls, however, object to the wisps of clipped hair as they grow out, complaining that the length never becomes even all the way around. The way to avoid that is to cultivate the hair dress I spoke of at first. Personally, I think that is the better way.

CUTEST THING BABY EVER SAID

R. RAY

GOOD MANNERS

Q. When a woman is a very poor dancer, should she offer any apology when accepting an invitation to dance?

A. She should either learn to dance well or stay away from dances. The woman who executes the steps awkwardly and has no regard for the rhythm of the music should not go upon the public dance floor until she has mastered the art of dancing in private.

Q. When a young man thanks a girl for a dance, what reply should she make?

A. She may reply "I enjoyed it, too." She does not thank the man for it is he who received the favor.

Q. Is it not rude for a man to dance all evening with his girl friend, ignoring his hostess?

A. Yes, ballroom etiquette decrees that a man shall always ask his hostess to dance. If it is a small party he should dance with every guest present.

Q. Should the bride's parents provide conveyances to the church for out-of-town guests?

A. Yes.

MAKING PROGRESS!

Jack—So you met Alice today?

Jack—Has she kept her girlish figure?

Al—Keep it? She's doubled it.

MISS ROSE FELDMAN.

Affairs of the Heart and Your Marriage Problems

Patricia Lee

Patricia Lee answers questions relating to problems of married life. Names and address should be added to letters as a mark of good faith but will not be published. Readers who desire private answers should inclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of typing, etc. Because of space limitations it is not possible to print answers to all letters received, and readers who wish an early reply should take advantage of this special service. On account of the large quantity of mail coming to this department, about ten days should be allowed for a reply. Write to Patricia Lee, care of this paper.

Pretty arguments, quick retorts to petty insignificant remarks, finding fault, or taking exception to a statement that in itself means nothing at all, are sure-fire ways of creating an unhappy home atmosphere.

Haven't you been present when some young couple (or older one) just battled through a meal or spoiled an evening by their incessant arguments? Not any of the arguments amounted to a thing, and if they had stopped to figure out what it was all about, they never would be able to.

Had any one dared to suggest that they had been quarreling they would have stoutly denied it and been indignant, and yet if either one of them started in to determine why their home life was not as joyous as it might be they would see the effect of the "words."

Broad-minded folks do not stoop to petty argument. Being broad-minded in your home relations is sometimes a harder role to play than the one with the outside of the home relations.

Listen in on yourself and see how often you contradict. See whether you are willing to hear through an opinion of your wife's or husband's. Find out if you are one that picks the wrong meaning in simple statements concerning "your family." Check up on yourself and find out whether you are broad-minded in your home life and are avoiding the petty arguments that are so fatal to a happy home.

Dear Patricia Lee: My husband finds fault with me an awful lot, but he is kind and good to me, and a wonderful father. He makes me feel sometimes as though I didn't know very much, and it bothers me. We start to argue about the least little thing, and it makes me feel bad. What can I do?

FRANCES.

Suggest to your husband that he be a bit more tolerant of your views, or at least to let you express your opinion but always remember, dear, that it really takes two to make an argument. Some people, and men in particular, are by nature domineering, and they have to be handled carefully or they grow worse instead of better.

Dear Patricia Lee: I am heartbroken, and am turning to you for advice. I have been married eleven years, and have three lovely children, 10, 8, and 4 years old. My husband has fallen in love with a young girl, and his affection has gone so far that he is the father of her child. He has loved her for three years. He promises over and over again that each day will be the last that he will see her, but I am forced to accept money from his parents for myself and children while he spends his money on her. What can I do?

M. V. M.

I am sure that you have thought about the matter a great deal and you must have come to some conclusion as to whether or not you can do anything but wait. You can't hold a man any more than a woman can be held to their marriage responsibilities by force or argument. Have you attempted to talk the thing out and have your husband see his duty to his children? I can't see how you can expect any man to change when he has gone as far as he has gone.

Duty and love are distinct and never can be synonymous. Sometimes a man's duty outweighs his love and he can overcome all his desires effectively. So much depends on conditions in which you live that it would be impossible for me to say what to do and what not to do.

Dear Patricia Lee: I have known a man just three weeks and he has asked me to marry him. He wants me to have a ring and to be married next spring. He doesn't know me except on this short acquaintance and I don't know anything about him, but I feel that I love him and he loves me. What will I do?

MARJORIE.

Well, you are taking equal chances, I suppose, if you go through with a marriage, but people in love sometimes forget that there is a future or a past that has to be considered. You'll have to trust to your intuition and judgment of human nature. I am afraid. In a few months time you will get to know the man better and he will get to know you, too. Be sure you see him as much as possible with other people, because it is my humble opinion that you can learn much from observation when you see a person with other folks.

Do You Know That—

By MRS. HALL-DEANE

A new French sports belt is made of narrow brown kid and has a simple gold metal clasp and a monogrammed pendant suspended by a strap at the side.

The new sweater dress is distinguished by diagonal necking and stripes, the stripes, neckbanding and skirt being of a darker tone, the overblouse in a lighter shade of the same color.

Plaid felt is a new millinery note. An unusually original little chapeau of plaid felt has five tufts in the crown following the line of the plaid on to the brim, where they were released in ripple effect.

"How long is that you are begging in this place?"

"Twenty years."

"Well I have seen you all that time with a baby in your arms. Will you kindly tell me if it's the same one?"

SYNOPSIS

Myra Martin, secretary to Leonard Gilbert, a lawyer to whom she is engaged, learns that her sister, Helen, is infatuated with Huntley Sheldon, whose wife, Nita, is divorcing him. Myra, disguised, sees Sheldon to force him to release Helen. Discovered by Nita, she escapes unrecognized. Helen elopes with Ralph Naylor but returns to find that Sheldon, so she believes, is on her account, a hold over Myra. Angrily, she goes to Sheldon's apartment to confront him. Then Gilbert, Nita's lawyer, and Sheldon's friend, arrives to discuss the situation. Helen hides. Myra, having discovered Helen's rendezvous, arrives and Gilbert hides, and then Nita, hunting evidence, and Myra hides.

Sheldon, for his part, was quite nervous as any of the three upstairs. He realized that if he allowed Nita to search she'd find three people there, all of whom would be incriminated in one way or another, and he himself would not be in a very good grace when Gilbert found that his fiancée was here. On the other hand, if he tried to stop the search, Nita would be certain that there was someone hidden, and she would be sure to continue, with disastrous results. Suddenly he had an idea. With a sigh he had leapt up the stairs in front of Nita and stood blocking her way.

"Nita!" He held up his hand dramatically, and looked deep into her eyes. "One moment. You can say what you will, do what you will, but you can't deny that you still love me!"

Nita stopped, tossing her head in anger. But whether or not she would admit it, she knew that Sheldon was telling the truth. When he stood there looking at her that way, she felt that she would do anything for him. "You are really misjudging me," he continued, with that touch of wistfulness and pleading in his voice that he had used many times and in many ways with such excellent results. "Search this apartment if you will," he exclaimed, throwing himself to one side as though he would allow her to pass unquestioned, "but if you do, all chances of a reconciliation are over!" He bowed his head.

Nita stared at him for a moment, almost believing that he was telling the truth. And now that she was so near her goal, she didn't really want to go on with it. If forgiven her husband and then there. But she thought of the other woman, hidden, possibly, in one of those rooms, and all her old jealousy returned. She would go through with it.

Moanings Myra, in her search, had discovered that the room held no way of retreat. Windows were too high from the ground and there was no fire escape leading from them. There was only one chance, and that was the door that seemed to lead into an adjoining room. Perhaps there would be a fire escape there. She decided to try it. Stepping cautiously she turned the knob softly and slowly. The door opened easily. She backed into the room, keeping her eyes on the door that led from the hallway, expecting to see Mrs. Sheldon appear before she got out.

While in the room, Helen had been going through the same tumultuous search. She, too, had found no fire escapes, and decided that the only thing to do was to try the door that seemed to lead into the adjoining room. And she, too, turned the knob slowly and quietly, and backed into the room. Suddenly both sisters turned around.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary, there's no harm in taking nujol since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping. Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine."

OIL MONOPOLY IN CALIFORNIA SAYS L. A. MAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Eight large refiners hold a monopolistic ownership of control over about 87 1/2 per cent of all producing oil wells in California, Charles A. Son of Los Angeles, representing the independent producers, told the government's newly-formed oil committee today.

Son's testimony was vigorously disputed by Thomas A. O'Donnell, also of Los Angeles and a member of the committee, who denied that the "big eight" attempt to operate as a monopoly. On the contrary, O'Donnell said, they are in keen competition with each other.

This was the first meeting of the committee, which was organized by Secretary of the Interior Work to draft proposed legislation for submission to congress, designed to conserve the nation's oil supply. The committee is composed of three representatives each of the government, the oil industry, and the American Bar Association, with Henry M. Bates, of the University of Michigan, as chairman.

Son recommended that the regulation of oil production be left to the individual states. He defended the right of each state to control the production within its borders as a public utility. Basing his claim that the "big eight" control California's producing wells, on statistics for the year 1926, Son said:

"The total producing wells of the state for that year were 11,506, and of these the eight refiners owned 8,599, and the independents owned 2,907, roughly in the proportion respectively of 76 per cent and 24 per cent. The independents number 410 organizations.

"Of the 410 independents, 176 owned only one well, 183 owned from two to ten, 32 owned between eleven and twenty, and only 22 owned over twenty wells.

"Of the wells in Orange county, the big eight owned 776 and the independents 188, and in Los Angeles county, the big eight owned 1,875 and the independents 876.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, yellow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants. Nature's own remedies that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at La Moine Drug Co.

BRUNIER HEADS STATE MOTOR ORGANIZATION

H. J. Brunier, consulting structural engineer of San Francisco who is in charge of development work for the Richmond harbor improvements and a leading figure in California good roads activities for many years, is the new president of the California State Automobile Association. Announcement was made yesterday of his election to leadership of the 76,000 organized motorists of Northern and Central California at the annual meeting of the Association's Board of Directors in San Francisco last week.

Brunier succeeds Burton A. Towne of Los Angeles, who retired from the Association presidency after two successive terms during which the organization set a remarkable record of progress.

Other officers of the Automobile Association elected for 1928 are: R. I. Bentley of San Francisco, president of the California Packing Corporation, first vice president; D. H. Lafferty of Santa Rosa, mortician and civic leader, second vice president; E. B. De Golla of San Francisco, vice president of Marsh & McLennan, third vice president; George S. Forrester of San Francisco, president of the Forrester Cornice Works, treasurer; D. E. Watkins, was again named secretary and general manager of the Association. He is now in his fifteenth year in this position.

Ruth Elder To Fly Atlantic

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—"I am going to try again to cross the Atlantic by plane and this time I'm going to make it," declared Ruth Elder upon her arrival here today to fill a theatrical engagement.

Miss Elder expressed keen disappointment at flight cancellation supplied to the bay region from Sacramento because of the stormy weather.

"Storms or storms I fly to Los Angeles," she declared.

"Maybe I'll go into the movies," she said when asked about her future plans. "Aviators? Of course I like them. They are such a good-hearted bunch, happy-go-lucky, but as clubby as can be. And Lindy? I think he is really and truly the most wonderful man who ever lived. I don't know what there is about him that makes him that way, but every time I think of him my heart goes 'pit-a-pat'."

"In head winds, a multi-motor plane eats up too much gas," she explained as the reason for favoring the single-motor type for trans-oceanic flights.

HOPE OF RACES DEPENDS UPON YOUTH, MELAS

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The hope of the entire human race to end all wars rests with youth, was the message brought here today by Commodore Constantine Melas, former Greek naval leader.

He has been active in organizing Greece's youth as part of a movement which he hopes will assume world-wide proportions. Neither the diplomacy of graybeards, he believes, or the programs for still larger navies, will solve the problem of war. Only in the hands of youth does this foe of mankind rest, he says.

"Diplomacy is still seeking a formula for peace," he said. "But diplomacy never has found it and by itself never will. It is more than likely that it will only succeed in building larger navies, greater armies and in creating new wars which will be more devastating than any we have ever known."

"Because some of us realize these things we have established two institutions at Athens and Saloniki we hope the young men of the Balkans will come in large numbers."

"But in this enterprise we need above all, American leadership from reasons which will be obvious to a student of Balkan affairs. Foes of other days might possibly refuse to come to an institution purely Greek, but they will flock to the same institution if it bears the stamp of American approval and is under American leadership."

ST. MARK'S AID TO PLAN WHIST

CITY COUNCIL OF EL CERRITO AWARDS PAVING

Contract for the improvement of portion of Arlington Avenue near the Berkeley Country Club was awarded to the Central Construction Co. by the council of El Cerrito Monday night for $24,350.30. The pavement will be cement concrete and will be completed by summer.

On the recommendation of City Engineer Ross L. Calfee the council voted to donate $100 toward the construction of culvert across Cerrito Creek on Ramona street.

The culvert is to be constructed by F. McGregor, building contractor, at an approximate cost of $500 and will be about sixty feet long. Calfee stated that McGregor was asking the city of Albany for a like sum to help defray the expense. The work will be done under the supervision of Street Superintendent Forrest Wright.

A communication from A. J. Eddy City Engineer of Berkeley stating that many reports of the poor condition of Colusa avenue near the city line and requesting the city to help in having the street repaired was referred to City Engineer Ross L. Calfee who stated "the street had been repaired but that Eddy had not been notified."

Requests of L. S. McMichael to have the city of El Cerrito print maps of the city in folder form for the convenience of the people and as an advertising medium was laid over indefinitely as the map being made the city engineer has not been completed.

In response to a request of the League of Municipalities the city will forward copies of future ordinances passed to that organization so they will have them on file for reference work.

An invitation to attend a dinner given by the Volunteer Fire Department January 28th at the city hall was accepted by the council.

Parente Believed To Have Fled Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 26.—Unexpected developments today heightened interest in the hearing of Joe Parente, convicted San Francisco rum runner, charged with having entered Canada illegally. The hearing was again adjourned. This time until tomorrow at the request of the immigrant board. The absence of Parente when the hearing was called led to widespread rumors that he had fled.

C. S. Arnold, his counsel, however, insisted that he was still here. Parente himself, up to this evening, could not be located, but it is understood that he had advanced information of the coming postponement and hid himself out of town on a fishing trip.

U. S. Fights Lifting Tariff To South American Nations

By GEORGE W. HINKLEY, JR., the discussion.
HAVANA, Jan. 23.—Formation of a Pan-American customs union on the basis of free trade was favored among the 21 republics of the New World was advocated today by the first commission of the Pan-American conference by Mr. Hughes, and then, turning to the Argentine proposals, put forward in a long and carefully prepared address by the chief of the South American Republics' delegation, Dr. Honorio Pueyrredon, also Ambassador at Washington.

In effect, they constituted a challenge to the tariff maintained by the United States. The challenge failed to surprise the north Americans, who had come to the conference armed with great masses of data and argument to meet just such a situation. The kernel of the Argentine suggestion was that Inter-American trade should not be regarded as foreign trade.

The republics of the new world were urged to accord one another special treatment. Tariff barriers would apply only to the products of Non-American countries.

In this, the Argentine plea was in direct conflict with the American principle of universal most-favored-nation treatment. The idea conformed rather to the recent French attempt to force the United States into some sort of reciprocal agreement which would have discriminated against other countries.

An address immediately following Dr. Pueyrredon's Charles Evans Hughes, as chief of the United States delegation indicated plainly that the American government regarded the Argentine proposals with little favor.

In addition to disliking the idea of trade discrimination and the lowering of the American tariff wall the United States is in a position to show that more than half of its imports from the other 21 Republics enter the country free of duty. The percentage ranges from 97 per cent. in the case of Colombia to around 50 per cent. in the case of Argentina.

The case of Argentina is a special one. The American duties being designed to protect American wool growers and meat producers. In both these fields, Argentina and the United States are competitors in the markets of the world. Balancing the American practice, Argentina imposes tariff duties on 70 per cent. of its imports from the United States.

The Argentine proposals, were put forward in the midst of the discussion of the project for the organization of the Pan-American union. The feature of these proceedings was the practically unanimous disapproval of the principal amendments advocated by Mexico.

After Jacob O. Varela of Uruguay, as reporting secretary, had reported against the Mexican proposals, one Latin-American after another spoke in opposition to the suggestions. Particular emphasis was laid upon the great value of the services rendered by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, now director-general of the union, who would be removed from office by the Mexican project.

Mrs. Hughes herself took the floor and praised the work of Dr. Rowe. The American leader also declared in favor of continuing the recent practice of electing the chairman of the governing board instead of adopting the Mexican proposal for compulsory rotation in office. The Mexican suggestion was aimed particularly at the American Secretary of State, who, as a matter of international courtesy, always has been elected to the chairmanship.

On the other hand Mr. Hughes frankly recognized the desirability of having Dr. Rowe attend the Pan-American conferences in his own right as director-general instead of as a member of the United States delegation. Mr. Hughes, accordingly, proposed an amendment making such attendance possible.

Crowds Attend Revival Talks

Two Community Methodist church was filled to capacity for the Sunday night services. There was an excellent community song service and a special selection "My Task" was sung by Bert Scobie, accompanied by Mr. W. W. Chapin at the piano.

The sermon delivered by Rev. George W. Forman was in the form of three questions "Is it well with thee, is it well with thy husband, is it well with thy child?" taken from the story of Elsie and the Humante woman. The questions were considered in their order and some striking illustrations were used to show that the Christian life was best—no man was fortified for life until he became a Christian and that he could win without the Savior. "Most women, Rev. Forman said, are interested in their husbands and in the various vocations of life, and yet do not think much about their spiritual welfare." Illustrations were used to show the well-being of both the husband and wife as Christians together. With regard to the child, emphasis was placed upon home training. The child's training should begin at an early stage in the child's life. The message was directed more to the church and the believers of the congregation.

Last night there was a lively song service and Mrs. C. J. Seymour and Mrs. Henrietta Sollars sang a duet. The sermon delivered by Rev. Forman was "The Jailer's Question—What must I do to be saved?"
